CabinConnectTM

WIRELESS IN-FLIGHT CONNECTIVITY
AND ENTERTAINMENT SOLUTION

Building trust every day

Connect your passengers to what matters most.

Passengers expect to be connected anywhere, anytime, even when they're flying at 40,000 feet. Rockwell Collins meets that expectation, and does so much more with CabinConnect™, our wireless in-flight connectivity and entertainment solution.

A complete solution including hardware, software and connectivity services, CabinConnect is easy for airlines to install and run and simple for passengers to use, making it one of the most effective in-flight broadband connectivity systems available today.

CabinConnect goes beyond meeting passenger expectations. CabinConnect creates value for airlines by increasing revenue opportunities and enabling crew to manage cabin and passenger services more efficiently.

'Always on' connectivity for passengers

CabinConnect enables the 'always connected' experience users want by delivering a fast and familiar high bandwidth experience using Inmarsat's GX Aviation, the industry's most reliable, global satellite service available today. With CabinConnect, passengers can relax and watch their favorite shows, surf the internet or communicate with family and friends. CabinConnect lets them be engaged, connected, entertained and informed no matter where they fly.

Airlines can customize their passengers' experience with a range of options:

- › Streaming content services (Netflix, Hulu and more)
- › Voice and text services
- › Moving map
- › In-flight information updates
- › Live news and sports updates

Connectivity that creates new revenues

In-flight broadband connectivity can increase revenues by allowing airlines to present more services and features to passengers. The flexibility of the system allows for even more revenue-generating opportunities. Airlines can offer specials and promotions, more extensive online duty-free shopping and other services that enhance the passenger experience and create ancillary revenue.

With CabinConnect, airlines can minimize the risk of credit card fraud by enabling real-time card authentication at the point of purchase. Airlines can safely sell higher priced items, increasing the value of goods sold onboard and enabling collect-at-arrival for larger items.

For airlines CabinConnect:

- › Opens up new revenue streams by delivering flexible and customizable pricing options
- › Enables introduction of promotional offers tailored to class of service
- › Eliminates credit card fraud – thanks to a secure payment gateway
- › Improves cabin crew operations and enhances service offerings
- › Reduces aircraft downtime through in-flight reporting of system faults

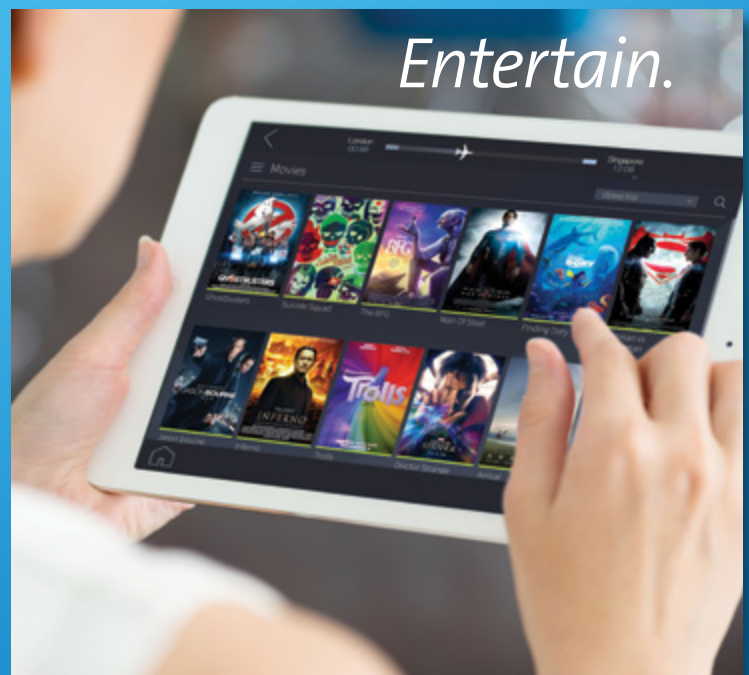

Meeting needs now and in the future

CabinConnect offers airlines a complete end-to-end solution that covers everything from pre-installation engineering and planning through to training, testing, maintenance and support. We're continually developing new enhancements, so your passengers get the connectivity they expect today and you're prepared for meeting new requirements in the future.

Going beyond expectations is hardly surprising from a company that pioneered airline and aircraft communications, and has been providing communications, engineering and system integration to the aviation industry for more than 85 years.

When you choose Rockwell Collins CabinConnect, you can enjoy the peace of mind that comes from working with a trusted provider. Every day, we deliver more than 50 million messages, enabling safer, efficient airline and aircraft operations. Let us help you connect your passengers to what matters most.

CabinConnect™ delivers the 'always connected' experience passengers want – no matter where they fly.
