June 21, 2017

Effective June 21, 2017, I approve the release of the revised Standards of Business Conduct, serving as the company’s code of conduct. This document serves as the main source for our employees and others to understand our company’s expectations for ethical behavior and business practices.

Rockwell Collins’ Standards of Business Conduct has been updated in order to strengthen and add policy information in key risk areas. Our company has also made updates to our internal website, providing expanded content in each topic area as well as additional resources such as related policies, contact information, videos and FAQs.

Notable content updates and/or additions were made in the following areas:

- Bring Your Own Device (new)
- Unprofessional behavior
- Use of company resources
- Audio and image recording
- Harassment/sexual harassment
- Data privacy

Sample scenarios were also added in the form of Q&As in key topic areas throughout the code of conduct.
